

Football Fans Can Listen Live To NFL Global Junior Championship On NFL-GJC.com And EZStream.com

FOR THE SECOND consecutive year football fans can listen live to every minute of every game played at the NFL Global Junior Championship XI at Lockhart Stadium in Fort Lauderdale during the week of Super Bowl XLI.

EZStream.com, through its partnership with the annual Super Bowl event, will provide the official webcast for all games played on Wednesday, January 31 and Saturday February 3 between Canada, France, Japan, Mexico, Panama and the USA. The EZStream broadcast follows a successful 2006 production from the Silverdome in Detroit when the games were broadcast live to a worldwide audience.

Normally, EZStream only provides webcast distribution services, allowing clients to use its webcasting tools to produce their own original broadcasts, but for the NFL Global Junior Championship, EZStream will provide for the complete production, including the broadcast crew and all onsite equipment.

EZStream managing partner Craig Blanchard said, "Being involved with this tournament is a natural extension for us. Much of what EZStream does year round is helping high schools self produce their own broadcasts on the Internet. We have just completed fall championships with broadcasts in more than 30 states. I can not think of a better way to cap off the season than by helping the NFL showcase its premier high school event."

EZStream was founded in 2004 and has carried more than 10,000 broadcasts, has partnerships with several high school state associations and its software powers many state championship broadcasts.

The game broadcasts can be accessed from the official NFL Global Junior Championship XI site at www.NFL-GJC.com, which will also feature live statistics, game recaps, photos and daily news updates.
